An aerial photograph of the University of Iowa campus. The image shows a mix of historic red brick buildings and modern architecture. A prominent feature is a large, multi-story red brick building with a curved facade. To its left is a cluster of modern, angular buildings. In the foreground, a wide river flows, crossed by a long, light-colored bridge. The campus is surrounded by green trees and lawns. A yellow rectangular box with black text is overlaid on the upper left portion of the image.
